News from Robert Burns
Why Three Were Killed
Election Big, People Cold
Red Mars Comes Near

By ARTHUR BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1926, by the New American)
SIR ARTHUR CONAN DOYLE, who plays with spiritualism, as do other men getting old, has news from Robert Burns. That poet says, from heaven or wherever spirits dwell, that he does not like the pictures of himself usually shown, and tells which picture he does like.
AS LONG as he was talking, what a glib Burns did to dictate another poem or two. His description of the place where spirits live would be worth while, especially news of that cut-throat dancing on the Scotch midnight. Why must spirits at-ways send silly messages, such as "Mama is very happy"?

JAMES STODDARD, laboring man, killed three of his little girls with an ax and the police, "I just killed my three kids, and I want to get up other one." The fourth had run away.
THE EXPLANATION of the tragedy, as you can guess, is "boozing whisky." All such whiskey is poisonous, the sort sold to laborers is murderously poisonous.
What the law will do to that

CALL FOR GIRLS AGAINST SHERIFF

'FIGHT TO FINISH,' HIS SLOGAN, AS HE SPEAKS OF RUMORED FRAME-UP

Montpelier, Vt., Oct. 25.—Prepared to "fight it out with the State," High Sheriff Wallis L. Fairbank went on trial here today on serious charges in a courtroom crowded to its capacity with Windsor County men and women attracted by the promise of sensational stories from the lips of more than ten women, summoned as State's witnesses.
An air of expectancy settled over the room as Sheriff Fairbank entered and took his seat at a distance from the witness box, where women ranging from the "sapper" to middle age were prepared to testify against him.
Although reluctant to discuss the charges brought against him, which involved two young girls, both of whom were brought into the courtroom from jail cells, Sheriff Fairbank displayed more than he would retreat his guilty plea by the simple statement that he would "fight it out."
"The several days stories to the effect that an agreement had been made between me and the prosecution have been in circulation," said Sheriff Fairbank as the trial started. "These reports are absolutely unfounded and I wish to deny them emphatically."
A half an hour before the trial began, a note was passed to the effect that the undersecretary of the State had been arrested.

MRS. MILLS' LETTERS BARE LOVE FOR HALL

Somerville, N.J., Oct. 25.—As the four-year reign of the Hall-Mills murders approaches the climax of actual trial jury, renewed interest attaches to the alleged love letters and "lowdown" written by Dr. Hall and Mrs. Mills in the hangover days of their alliance.
Few of the letters are dated, but all seem to have been written by Mrs. Mills to Dr. Hall. She had just received nothing "The Mother of All Lies" novel by Robert Keable, as her "Alison Calver" letter.

HUB BUS IN CRASH; FALL RIVER; 11 HURT

Eleven persons were injured today when a Hub bus to Boston from Fall River crashed into a building in Fall River, Mass. The bus was operated by William J. Hall, who was killed. The bus was carrying 11 passengers and the driver. The bus was traveling on a road that was not wide enough for the bus. The bus was traveling on a road that was not wide enough for the bus.

PRESIDENT'S POWER TO OUST OFFICIALS UPHELD

Washington, Oct. 25 (A.P.)—The right of the President to remove appointive officials from office without consent of the Senate was upheld today by the Supreme Court in the Myers case.
In an opinion by Chief Justice Taft, the court held Federal statutes which have been regarded as withholding that power from the President were unconstitutional.
The case, involving removal by President Wilson of Frank B. Rowland as postmaster at Portland, Me., was argued on Oct. 18. The legislative and executive branches came in a notable trial of constitutional right before the high court.
The court declared Congress has no constitutional authority to restrict the President in removal of officials from office; created, but that the Chief Executive must be free to act on his own discretion.

NEW HOPE SHIP UPSET, FOR SACCO EXPLODES

Hope for a further reprieve for Colelino Madrone, convicted murderer, who confessed to the alleged Sacco-Vanzetti crime, was seen today when Governor Fuller held a long conference with Attorney General Jay R. Borton.
While it was admitted that the Madrone situation was discussed during the conference, no statement was given out.
Madrone's present reprieve, granted on the strength of his confession, which has been described through Judge Webster Thayer's refusal to grant a new Sacco-Vanzetti trial, will be automatically annulled for the electric chair within the week, unless a further reprieve is granted.
Thayer's refusal of a new trial for Sacco and Vanzetti has not ended the case, for defense counsel, who has been described through Judge Webster Thayer's refusal to grant a new Sacco-Vanzetti trial, will be automatically annulled for the electric chair within the week, unless a further reprieve is granted.

BAY STATE CITIES ARE SWEEPED BY GALE; HEAVY DAMAGE IN PITTSFIELD

A miniature hurricane, possibly an aftermath of the storm which swept in from the South, tore through Western Massachusetts today, leaving a wake of destruction. Property damage is estimated at least $100,000.
Pittsfield was the hardest hit, though Springfield felt the storm's blast, as did the towns between these points.
The high wind was accompanied by rain, which was driven against windows and roofs, the wind being estimated at 35 miles an hour. Roofs were torn from houses, hundreds of windows were broken, trees were uprooted, and many buildings were damaged and roofs blown off.
The storm was hurricane-like not only in its force, but in the path that it cut. The path in Pittsfield was about four miles long and no

QUEEN REVIEWS WEST POINTERS IN DELUGE

West Point, N.Y., Oct. 25.—In the presence of the United States Military Academy and a review of the cadets, Queen Marie of Rumania, who is on a tour of the United States, today reviewed the 100th anniversary of the birth of the United States. The Queen, still suffering with the flu, was accompanied by her husband, King Carol, and their children. DEMOCRATS HIT AT COOLIDGE 'MEDDLING'

Washington, Oct. 25 (A.P.)—The political waters of the Capital rippled today in severest degree from the report of the latest endorsement by President Coolidge of Senator William M. Butler, chairman of the Republican National committee, who is opposed to the nomination of Charles F. Murphy, Massachusetts, by former Senator David I. Wells.

HOUDINI IN COLLAPSE; CASE PUZZLES DOCTORS

Detroit, Oct. 25 (A.P.)—Harry Houdini, the escape king and master of the occult, collapsed at the close of his opening performance here.
A consultation of physicians was called for today. His hospital report Houdini was suffering from injuries suffered during one of his performances.
Dr. Lee Detsky, physician at the Hotel Frank Times, the only doctor, who collapsed during the performance in which he was suffering several weeks ago, said he believed Houdini is suffering from appendicitis, although his temperature was 104.

Health Schedule

A BIG EVENT ON DOROTHEA'S SCHEDULE
Mrs. George C. Davis, of No. 104 Old Harbor street, South Boston, sees that her Dorothea gets her bath on time. Dorothea won the Boston Evening American-Metropolitan Theatre contest. She is six months old.

GIVES DOROTHEA EVERY CARE
Regularity in sleep and feeding are the chief events on Dorothea's daily schedule. Bottles are unknown to this little prize winner for Dorothea is breast fed. She goes to bed regularly at six o'clock and seems to like it. (See Story on Page 5.)

SLEEPS IN OPEN IF WEATHER PERMITS
Good fresh air and plenty of sunshine has helped Dorothea considerably, her mother says. Every suitable afternoon Mrs. Davis spends much time on the Strandway with her baby, who is much admired.

DOROTHEA POSES
Although she was adjudged 99.5 per cent. perfect, Dorothea was closely pressed for first honors as 14 babies were given a rating better than 96 per cent. All are beauties.

Fate Tricks Him

FINDS SISTER HURT
Patrolman William Cohen of Joy street station, investigating a motor accident, found his own sister was the victim—struck by a taxicab. He sent her to Massachusetts General Hospital as a patient, where she recently had been graduated as a nurse.

Yesterday the American and Advertiser gained 239 classified ads over the corresponding day of last year.

LOWELL CLAIMS PEGGY JOYCE'S NEW ESCORT

Peggy Hopkins Joyce—the "Morning" should be added—who came to Boston and the Harvard University game in the later fashion Italian town car, had as her companion a former Lowell boy, it was alleged by Lowell friends today.

Lowe of Lowell is now connected with Cameron, Mitchell & Co. of West 107th street, New York, and has amassed considerable wealth during his New York career, although in appearance he is under thirty.

DRYS' TO FIGHT IN 5 STATES

Washington, Oct. 25 (U.S.S.)—Dismissing their reported indifference toward liquor reform, the drys have opened a smashing offensive in five States on November 1. Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel for the Anti-Saloon League of America, disclosed today.

The drys have named California, Colorado, Montana, Nevada and Missouri as their battlegrounds. Wheeler said. He declared prohibition forces are making no fight in New York, Illinois and Wisconsin.

BOY FALLS TO DEATH FROM THIRD STORY

Accused to show his pal a new picture of a party picture of a film star, a boy fell from the third story of No. 117 W. 11th street, Chicago.

The boy, who is 15 years old, was seen by a neighbor, who called the police. The boy was found dead on the sidewalk.

The police are looking for the boy's father, who is believed to be a film star.

DEMOCRATS HIT COOLIDGE FOR 'MEDDLING'

Coolidge with "regulating" his previous stand and with "interference" sees it as meddling.

"Apparently, the President," Coolidge declared, "is very much frightened at the prospect of the defeat of Senator Butler and Governor Fuller. When President Wilson was a similar letter in 1918, the Republicans were very much horrified."

The letter replied to a telegram asking whether the President intended to cast his vote in the home city of Northampton. The Chief Executive wrote that he and Mrs. Coolidge planned to make the trip, but that he had requested to have absentee ballots sent him. In the event he could not return to Massachusetts to vote.

DECLARATION BY GASTON IS READ

By THOMAS F. FIELAN

More than 200 people, crowded in to the spot in front of City Hall today heard former Senator John J. Cummings of Rochester, from the shadow of the statue of Benjamin Franklin, read Col. William A. Gaston's new declaration of independence containing his wet issue and other planks of the Democratic party of Massachusetts.

A line of 12 policemen under Sergt. Wallace of the traffic squad kept a late through the crowd to the steps of City Hall.

William H. McManis introduced former Senator Cummings as a man who himself had gubernatorial ambitions, but surrendered them for the sake of unity in the Democratic ranks, and came out for Gaston.

Runaway Auto Wrecks Subway Booth on Tremont Street

The automobile owned by Jacob Bernstein of No. 10 Tyler street, Woburn, evidently got tired of being parked in front of No. 4 Park street, so early today it started down Beacon Hill on a little tour of its own.

The brakes becoming loosed, the car rolled down Park street, across Tremont, and then crashed into one of the booths housing the escalator from the Cambridge subway. The car was badly damaged and the booth pretty well smashed up.

Bernstein said he left the car but a short time and couldn't understand how it got loose.

Salts Fine for Aching Kidneys

When Back Hurts Flush Your Kidneys as You Clean Your Bowels

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, sometimes get clogged and clogged and need a flushing remedy. Also, we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headache, rheumatic twinges, tired liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders. The remedy must keep your kidneys active and clean and the moment you feel an aching pain in the kidney region begin drinking lots of water. Also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is intended to flush clogged kidneys and help stimulate them to activity. It also helps neutralize the acids in the urine so they no longer irritate, thus helping to relieve bladder disorders. Jad Salts is absolutely harmless; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which everybody should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean.

A well-known health druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in trying to correct kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

Baking Soda Useful in the Nursery

BAKING soda is now recognized as one of the staples which should stand on the shelf in every nursery. When bathing the baby, it is beneficial to soften the water by adding two teaspoonfuls of baking soda to each gallon of water; first dissolving it in a little water in a pan before adding it to the bath.

This makes the bath more refreshing, and prevents any skin eruption before it has a chance to start.

One-half teaspoonful of baking soda added to the water which fills baby's bottle between feedings will keep it sweet and sanitary. First wash the bottle, then fill it with this solution and let it stand until it is again needed.

VIGOR AND VIM IN CHEESE IS LITTLE KNOWN

Cheese is one of the oldest foods known to the civilized man. And as a nation don't half appreciate it. England eats two and a half times more cheese than we do, Switzerland seven times as much, and the Swiss people are no nation of pigmies, either. All over Europe it is one of the staple articles of diet, especially where flavor, healthfulness and economy are most regarded.

Perhaps the reason most of us don't use more cheese is because we don't really understand how valuable in food elements it is. It is made up of the solid ingredients found in milk, after most of the water has been taken out, and contains the milk fat, casein, and a large percentage of mineral salts and vitamins.

The amount of lime and phosphorus in cheese is greater than that contained in meat, potatoes, wheat, or beans, which, as you know, are the great substantial in our diet. And the lime and phosphorus spell health for the growing child.

Vitamin "A" in cheese is especially valuable, for that is the vitamin which promotes the growth. The lime, phosphorus and calcium are the elements which make the bones strong and firm. The protein is a muscle and tissue builder and furnishes a large amount of the energy, while the fat supplies the heat.

So, if you wish to buy concentrated health, inexpensively, and use it transformed into real cheese, stimulating energy and sound, strong bodies, buy cheese.

There is no need to serve in the some old way two or three times a week, either. Here are thousands of attractive methods of preparing it. Cheese and rice, croquettes, souffles, nut and cheese omelet, cheese and macaroni, and all the scalloped dishes which are improved a hundred percent by the addition of grated cheese.

How does this sound for a lunch on some cold blustery day, when the children rush home for some thing to eat before starting on their own session of school?

Peanut Butter Icing

Of all the things that ever crowned a loaf of cake, peanut butter icing is the most delicious. It gives that delicate nutty flavor, not too sweet, not too fat, but every mouthful a luscious delicacy.

PEANUT BUTTER ICING.
Boil 1 cup of sugar with 1/2 cup of boiling water till it comes to a thick, pour me the stiffly beaten white of 1 egg, very gradually beating all the time. Then add 1 tablespoonful of marshmallow cream and 2 tablespoonfuls of peanut butter. Beat well and spread on the cake at once. This frosting will not be perfectly smooth, as the peanut butter gives it the appearance of tiny little lumps.

REFLECTIONS

Out of this life I shall never take. Things of silver and gold I make. All that I cherish and hold dear. After I leave on the earth must stay. Though I have toiled for a painting rate.

To hang on my wall, I must leave it there. All that I treasure and all that I keep I must leave behind when I fall asleep.

And I wonder when I shall own in that other life, when I pass on. What shall they find and what shall they see.

In that soul that answers the call for me? Shall the great Judge learn, when my task is through. That my spirit had gathered some riches too?

Or shall at the last but it mine to find That all I had worked for I left behind?

Prize Pudding Tasty Treat

As you know, I try to specialize in recipes which are simple, economical and yet the last word in full, rich flavor and attractive daintiness. If it's a dish destined to delight the children, tempt an invalid, and completely satisfy an adult, it's a dish I trail until I have learned the recipe and can share it with my reader friends.

Such a dish is Massena Pudding. A pudding with a delightful, nutty flavor, a pudding which holds the shape of an individual mold or a large single one, which lends itself admirably to the lusciousness of its cap of whipped cream, and which is equally at home at a family meal, a luncheon, or a formal guest dinner.

And it is simple and quick to make. Much more simple than you would imagine, when you see it sitting up so straight and firm, a beautiful golden brown, bursting with plump raisins and topped with cream.

But best of all, it's a prize favorite with children. They invariably come back for "seconds," and "thirds," if possible. And inasmuch as it contains the all important milk, for calcium, brown sugar for body energy, cornstarch for heat, vanilla for iron and vanilla for stimulation of the appetite, it acts as an all around body builder for the youngster without their ever knowing it.

So get out your measuring cup, a boiler is better, and make some. You've probably got every ingredient in the house this minute.

Massena Pudding

- 1 pint milk (thickened)
- 1 cup brown sugar
- 2 tablespoonfuls cornstarch
- 1/4 cup chopped raisins (or nut meats)
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla

Melt the sugar in a saucepan, then add the heated milk with which the cornstarch has been dissolved. Stir until it thickens and let it cook over hot water for 15 minutes. Then add the raisins (or nuts) and vanilla. Pour into individual molds and serve cold with whipped cream.

For a Successful Breakfast—Hot Griddle Cakes

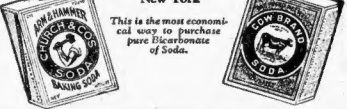

To start the day right and bright, serve hot griddle cakes for breakfast—and for unusually fine griddle cakes, the kind that brings every plate back for more, try this recipe:

Mix and sift 2 1/2 cups of flour, 1/2 teaspoonful of salt, 1 1/2 teaspoonfuls of baking soda, either Arm & Hammer Brand or Cow Brand. Add 2 cups of sour milk, and 1 egg well beaten. Pour on greased hot griddle.

This is but one of countless uses for Arm & Hammer Brand and Cow Brand Baking Soda—both brands are the same, both are made by Church & Dwight Co., Inc., both are pure bicarbonate of soda, helpful not only in the kitchen but all over the house—get a package today at your grocer's.

VOICING THE GREAT WORLD IN DEMOCRACY OF THE AIR

BLACK IRON SHINERS BACK

There is a perfectly good reason why the Black Iron Shiners, who will be welcomed back, are on the "air" on Monday at 7:35 p. m. through Station WJAG. The Shiners and their songs are the only thing that will give the old time times with such success. The reason is this: practically every member of the Shiners used to sing and dance to the same tunes in his younger days.

Take Bill Harris, for instance. Bill is the promoter and the pianist of the Black Iron Shiners. He is the pianist of the Shiners. Now just to hear him, you would know that he never learned "a" art from books, the only college which would teach the sort of prompting he does is the College of Real Experience. Bill said the other day that he has "called off" square dances in more places than you could shake a stick at—and we take it that means a lot.

The rest of the boys are the same class. If the radio were to give each of you could see the Black Iron Shiners sitting up from their seats, and falling in line through a square dance, then you would know that these Shiners are really dance men. They may not know much about the Charleston, but, oh, boy, how they can play a waltz!

The Black Iron Shiners will be on WJAG each Monday evening. The square dances are welcome, and the program of old time favorites is a new effort on the part of the Shiners. There are a number of people who will be glad to see the Shiners back, and the memory of what these folks say, "The good old days."

SALVATION ARMY BAND FROM SWEDEN

After a absence of many months the New England Staff Band of the Salvation Army will be heard on the air tonight, from Station WEEI. The band will broadcast from 8:30 to 9:40.

The concert will be in connection with the opening of the annual Convention and Maintenance Appeal of the Salvation Army in Greater Boston which opens today.

The Staff Band, under the direction of Bandmaster Eric Laidson, is one of the outstanding musical organizations of New England. A majority of its members are young men who have been trained at the New England Conservatory of Music.

Professor Laidson, who comes from a long line of Salvation Army officers in Sweden, is a graduate of the Royal Conservatory of Music in Stockholm and has attained considerable success while in New England. A few days ago a cable from London announced that he has won first prize and one fifth prize for his playing in a competition with Salvation Army bandmasters.

The Staff Band leaves tomorrow on a week's tour of New Hampshire, visiting the towns of Concord, W. A. McIntyre, on his farewell tour of duty. The concert, recently prompted from the rank of Colonel, will feature a new band on the first of the year. He will be back in Monday evening's program.

SAYS SCHOOL IS NO PLACE FOR RELIGION
Omaha, Neb., Oct. 25 (A.P.)—The public school is not the place for instruction in any particular religious belief, John Cowie, Washington, D. C., secretary general of the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship, declared in a radio address, prior to the opening of the annual session at the Southern Baptist conference here.

"The place for such religious training is in the home, around the family altar, and in the Sunday schools and churches," he said.

N. Y. RESERVOIR LEAKS
THREATEN WATER Famine
New York, Oct. 25 (A.P.)—The New York City water supply is seriously threatened by a reservoir in the Catskill Mountains, the New York Tribune says today.

A recent survey supports the theory that millions of gallons from the huge basin are seeping away through the veins, and thence to the surface again in adjacent water courses.

The reservoir, described as rivaling the Panama Canal as an engineering achievement, is virtually empty. Of the 150 billion gallons the reservoir is designed to hold, less than 16 billion gallons remain.

Guard Against "Flu" With Muterole
Influenza, Grippe and Pneumonia usually attack with a cold. The Muterole you get with your Muterole relieves the cold and stimulates circulation. It has all the good qualities of the old-fashioned mustard plaster without the blister.
First you feel a warm tingle as the healing ointment penetrates the pores, then a soothing, cooling sensation and quick relief. Have Muterole handy for every emergency. It may prevent serious illness.
To Mothers: Muterole is also used in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Muterole.

SEEKS MISSING GIRL IN POND

In the belief that a girl's body, for which Worcester police have been dragging in a South Worcester pond for three days, may be that of the fifteen-year-old daughter, Joseph S. Barlow, of No. 8 Lincoln parkway, Somerville, hastened to Worcester today.

Mary Barlow disappeared more than a week ago and nothing has been heard from her since.

Last Thursday, four children sighted a body floating in Curtis Pond, near Worcester, but did not tell the police until the following day.

Dragging of the pond was begun immediately, continuing through Saturday and Sunday into today.

'She Makes Me Tired,' Says Jeritza of Mary Garden

New York, Oct. 22.—Marie Jeritza is out with a challenge to Mary Garden to find microbes in the carefully-groomed heads of women fortunate enough to have beautiful long hair. Short tresses, says Maria, are becoming passé, and Mary makes her tired by saying that women who have long hair are fools.

Mme. Schumann-Heink tells the world she will never look her last, nor does she consider herself a fool.

Mary Lewin, scintillating star of the Grand opera, has long tresses.

BACK COUPONS AVAILABLE

Reprints of the first ten questions of the Martha Lee Homemaker's Contest have been made for the benefit of those who were late in getting started on the contest.

Such a multitude of requests came in for back numbers of the Boston Evening American, that we have printed the first ten coupons in one big sheet. Anyone desiring a copy may have one, if she calls at the Boston Evening American office, or sends in a request by letter, enclosing her name, address and a two-cent stamp.

So it's not too late to join the others in the race for the big prize. Everybody has a chance for the $2000. And there are thirty-nine other chances almost as good.

One hundred and fifty dollars goes to the winner of the second prize, $15 to the winner of the third, then fourth prize of $50, and a fifth of $20. Ten contestants are going to receive welcome checks for $10 each, and the next twenty-five $5 each.

And now you're going to take the tenth step toward a bulging bank account, a college education, or whatever else you have set your heart on. The tenth step, with only twenty-three to follow, and forty homemakers are going to divide ten thousand golden dollars. Here's the question for today:

Martha Lee's Homemaker's Contest Question Number 10

Should cabbage be cooked covered or uncovered to prevent odor?

Answer:

VISITORS TO SEE INSIDE OF U. S. AIRSHIP LOS ANGELES

Los Angeles, N. J., Oct. 22 (A.P.)—Navy fife crowds on Wednesday at the Naval Air Station here, which will be thrown open to the public, will see dirigibles in the air and on the ground, free balloons, kite balloons and parachute jumping. Elaborate preparations have been made to enable the visitors to satisfy their curiosity.

The rigid dirigible Los Angeles will be in its hangar and the public will be allowed to view the control cabin and inside of the ship. One of the great gas bags lies like a red moved and the interior of the hull lighted, so visitors may see how the ship is constructed, how fuel and water are carried, and other features.

FRIGHTENED BURGLARS LEAVE TORCH AND TOOLS

Southwest Harbor, Me., Oct. 22 (A.P.)—An unsuccessful attempt to rob the Southwest Harbor branch of the First National Bank & Trust Company was made over-night. The would-be robbers evidently were frightened away.

The outer door of the safe had been forced open, and work had been started on the inner door when it was suddenly suspended. The torch which had been used to force an entrance to the safe was left burning and the entire lot of tools were strewn about the office. The safe contained a considerable sum of money.

Tunney Shifts Pilots After Fierce Scrap With Loughran

CHAPTER EIGHTEEN
This is the eighteenth chapter of Gene Tunney's own story—written by himself—of his life and fighting career, written exclusively for the Boston Evening American.

By GENE TUNNEY
World's Heavyweight Champion

BETWEEN my first and second fights with Charlie Weiner I kept in tune by meeting Tommy K. O. Loughran at the National League ball park in Philadelphia. I won on points after eight rounds of brilliant battle. But I had to fight the heavy inch of ground, for Loughran is one of the toughest of men and a boxer of great stature.

Loughran endeavored to carry the fight to me, but the Philadelphia idol found me ready. I gave the Loughran pointers a terrible shock when I cut loose with a left hook in the first round, catching Tommy on the chin and dropping him to the canvas. The game lad arose at the count of nine, however, and continued against odds.

Tommy kept his chin well covered and prevented my getting another clean shot at that spot. So I started banging my left to the body, hoping to tire Loughran and force him to open up his chin to my left. No luck there.

Occasionally I would pop my right to Tommy's heart and in the seventh I thought I had him wobbling under the bombardment. I think Tommy had but two rounds, the third and fifth, when he managed to score with a few stiff rights.

Although these blows shook me a bit, they served only to make me set a faster pace. The last two rounds were corkers. Sporting experts granted this fight—and later the knockout of Weiner—placed me in line for a return with Greb.

Early in 1922 I had become dissatisfied with my lack of progress under the guidance of "Doc" Bagley. While I myself was at fault in some of my boxing strategy, I had fought too infrequently, I thought, and my income was not altogether satisfactory.

Gibson Teaches Champion Ring Fines

While I never have been and never hope to be over mercenary, I think that a member of any profession is entitled to what he is worth. Too, my association with Bagley never had brought us closely together. It was purely a business partnership and not a very pleasant one.

While I subscribe to the tenet that business is business, I also have that close, personal friendship that is to be scored between partners.

I sold my contract to Bagley for $5,000. A free agent, I managed myself for a time while making my choice of pilots. I sent friends to Billy Gibson, successful manager of lightweight Champion Benny Leonard. Having watched me box frequently, and believing in my future, Gibson said he would accept my business and matchmaking burdens.

Under Gibson I learned more and more about handling myself in the ring. Gib has a head like Walter Johnson or Grover Cleveland Alexander when it comes to figuring out the strength or weakness of an opposing athlete in advance.

Gibson quickly obtained a return match with Harry Greb, the only man who ever defeated me in my "big league bouts." He planned a few "practice" fights first, however. I met Chuck Wiggins at the old Commonwealth Club in Harlem and won in twelve rounds. A few days later I tangled with Jack Remault in Philadelphia.

Remault at that time—1925—was regarded as the heir apparent to the Heavyweight Throne. Big, exceedingly crafty, fast and a biter, it seemed that he had many qualifications for the title. I experienced little difficulty battering Jack about the body, but instead of falling me back, Remault clinched too frequently to suit Referee "Pop" O'Brien.

"Pop" called a cessation of hostilities—or, what he regarded as "non-hostilities—in the fourth round and declared the bout no contest. "Pop," I am inclined to believe, was a bit out of sorts that night, for I recall that he declared four other bouts on the same card "no contests." There was an epidemic of clinching battles out of the ball yard arena.

Philadelphia newspapermen expressed opinions the next day that O'Brien's action was "at least biased, if not uncalled for." They praised my work highly and hailed me as a greatly improved fighter.

Gibson, too, was pleased and started to sharpen me up for the Greb fight. Greb, himself, was rather reticent about taking me on again. But finally he agreed and the contest was arranged for Madison Square Garden during the middle of February, 1926.

I set about my training with Jack Malone, clever and witty Irish middleweight. It was necessary, of course, for me to scale down to the light heavyweight limit of 175 pounds. I had been taking on weight and was growing taller. I weighed about 185 pounds and the weight was difficult.

Malone Objects to Diet of Milk

Post Script: Knowing that I was in for trouble with the scales at my opponent, Malone worried night and day. Especially was he neurotically when he witnessed my consumption of quart after quart of milk.

Frequently Jack would surprise me with a glass of warm milk in my hand. He would burst into virile abuse and would dash the glass to the floor. "Use has threatened to close up all the 'milk' dairies" in the Metropolitan District by main force and called loudly on Gibson for a shot gun.

"What for?" asked Gib.

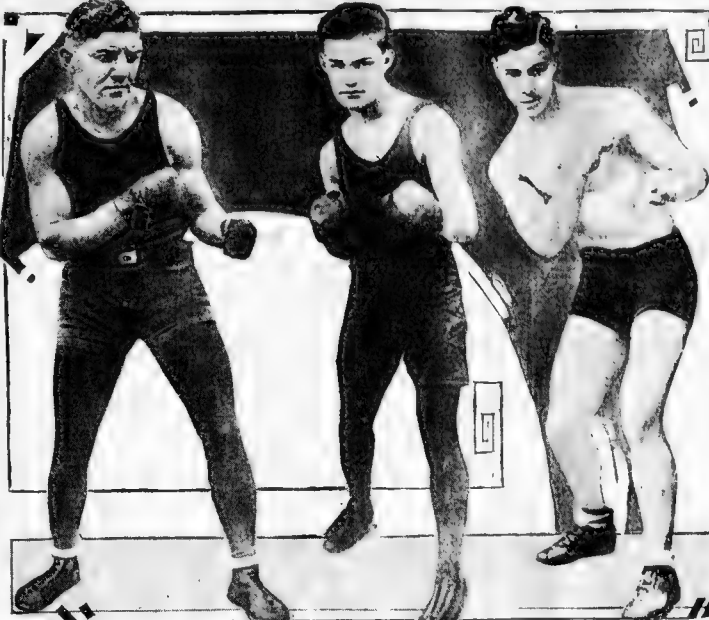

"To shoot them cows and stop the supply at the source!" replied the Irish Malone.

I made the weight, however, by hard work. I never starve when training, nor do I indulge in those devastating drying out sieges. I make the weight off gradually and by effectively. I believe in my own methods.

EAGLES RETAIN PLACE AT TOP OF GRIDDERS

In a season filled with dramatic back flips on the part of football favorites, there are still a large number of undefeated teams, and of these New England may have a two whose records place them in the front rank of the nation's elite. These are Boston College and Brown.

B.C. has played but three games but has shown more stuff than most teams do in a season. The no doubt but that Major Cavanagh's club would still be a footballer were it engaged in a strict schedule.

B.C. is the only team in the country unbeaten, untied, and unscathed. Wisconsin would have a similar record but for one scoreless tie, which allows the Eagles to monopolize the position of greater honor in football.

Brown, with a nucleus of some sixteen first-string players, has played into its twentieth year. It gives strong indications of staying power. Always listed for hard battles, the Eagles this year, unfortunately, have encountered the "bottle" with an offense. And thus has been the result: a tie game, even the runner of a typical Brown schedule have failed to win.

Should Yale defeat the Army and Brown beat Dartmouth next Saturday the Providence team will rank among the top coaches and will have earned the ranking.

Two other New England teams are yet among the undefeated. Holy Cross and Maine, either untrampled or still in the hands of the undefeated. Holy Cross, Maine, Stanford, Alabama, Army, Navy, Cornell, Lafayette, Missouri, Notre Dame, N. Y. U., Ohio State, W. and J. and West Virginia.

Chapman Opens Drive to Win World's Title

By JACK CONWAY
RED CHAPMAN, Chelsea featherweight, says he will start a new drive towards the title heights when he clashes with Steve Smith of Bangor in a ten-round bout at Commercial A. C. show at Mechanics Building tomorrow night.

With the featherweight title declared vacant by the National Boxing Board, Chapman believes he has a fine chance to snatch the crown and begin his career as a world champion.

TILDEN BANS PILE BID TO RETAIN PURE C.C.

William T. Tilden met C. C. Fyle by appointment a few weeks ago and was asked to turn professional. The American Lawn Tennis Magazine reports: Bill refused all offers because he wished to aid in the American struggle to retain amateur tennis supremacy in 1927 and would not accept anything that would tend to turn professional.

"It is doubted," said Fyle immediately.

"No, thanks," said "Big Bill," and then ended the matter.

SERIES PLAYS FLASHED TO ALASKA IN 7 MINUTES

Washington, Oct. 25 (AP)—The "sourdoughs" and natives around Ketchikan, Alaska, didn't have to wait more than seven minutes to get it. Gathered around the bulletin board at Kuba's store the Ketchikan fans got the games played by the "sourdoughs" as quickly as the cable and telegraph wires could flash them.

Here Is More Convincing Evidence of Boston American's Supremacy

On Saturday last the Boston Evening American scored several notable news beats. Among them were:

The FIRST paper in New England to print the story of Lee Fohl's resignation as manager of the Boston Red Sox.

The ONLY paper in Boston to print the text of Lee Fohl's resignation.

The ONLY paper in Boston with the CORRECT lineup of the Dartmouth-Harvard game.

The FIRST paper in the streets with a picture of the Harvard-Dartmouth game. This photo was in the paper and on the street ONE MINUTE after the game ended.

The ONLY paper in Boston with a photograph of Jim Maloney's knee of Artie Kuh.

The ONLY paper in Boston to carry the story of Harry (Rip) Bengough's succession to the post of athletic director at Dartmouth.

In the final sports edition the Boston Evening American carried play-by-play reports of all the most important games and the FINAL scores of all the Big Eastern games.

Greatest Golf Shot That I Ever Saw

By WILLIE OGG
As Told to Homer George
Holder of Many Titles and Pro at Worcester County Club

THE finest golf shot I ever saw was won the British open championship for James Braid at St. Andrews some years ago.

THE BEST ADVICE

The shot in question was made in the famous 18th hole at St. Andrews. It was a very difficult shot, and it was a very important one. It was a shot that would decide the winner of the championship. It was a shot that would be remembered for many years to come. It was a shot that was truly a masterpiece of golf.

TILDEN EAGER TO RETRIEVE PRESTIGE

New York, Oct. 23 (AP).—William F. Tilden, the Big Bull of tennis, is going to Europe next Spring in quest of the world championship as the first step in a crusade to put American tennis on the map of the world. Tilden is a very famous tennis player, and is a very successful one. He is a player who is very well known, and is a player who is very well liked. He is a player who is very well respected, and is a player who is very well admired.

Scouting Gave Brown Victory Edge Over Yale Bulldogs

The non-scientific plan was tested considerably when Brown whipped Yale, Saturday, for Coach M. Langens of the Brownites attributes the teams success to knowledge of Yale plays. Mr. Langens says Yale beat Harvard.

"I knew what Yale had in the way of a passing attack," he said after the victory Saturday, "and I taught it to the boys at Brown. They were schooled all week in how to stop them and in addition I showed them a few plays that caught Yale off-guard."

Cole Now Believes in '13 Jinx

WHEN the Barnmouth squad was able to win jerseys for the Yale game, Cole, the Volatile one, drew No. 13. Trimmer Harry Tilden yelled under when he saw Cole with the jinx number on his back and went on record that as long as Cole would not win a game and added that Cole would be "jinxed" as well. Cole was pretty well held in the '13 jersey. In the Saturday game, Cole was not just about ruled. He developed a "charlie horse" and then got jinxed as well. Last time I saw Cole—that man on my back—he yelled Cole as Bullie Dierney was trying to take out his "charlie horse." They'll get me a new number or themselves a new end.

Overcoats, this Season, are Decidedly Different

WHEN you dine out or attend a show this Winter with old friends or new business acquaintances, will your overcoat make the right impression? Is it up-to-the-minute in style and fabric?

For evening wear and dress occasions, the latest overcoat shown for men is the new double-breasted, velvet collar Chesterfield model in blue or black chevrons, boucles, kerseys and fine chinchillas and offered at prices you can afford by those stores that advertise in the Boston American and the Boston Advertiser.

E. F. DWYER

You have always figured on your ability to make a living and you never have considered that you might live after your earning capacity ceased.

It might be well for you to wake up to the fact that work can stop for you when you still need money and won't know where to get it.

Some folks need a hard and severe jolt before they can take the simple fact that an unceasing supply of money to meet every expense is necessary even when ability to keep a job ends.

Now you are strong and healthy—tomorrow you may be bed ridden.

The chances of travel increase with speed, which seems to be the trend of the times.

You are not immune to accident, so why not consider the risk which you take your weekly or your monthly pay envelope?

There are various forms of insurance. Decide the savings bank.

You are already habituated to be allowed to insure society in the future.

Don't become irresponsible with age.

Some day you will regret you did not take advantage of your opportunity to lay aside a compensation, to provide for the unexpected.

U.S.—modern insurance.
